Milestone Scientific's Epidural & Intra-Articular Subsidiary Presents Initial Results of Clinical Trials for its Epidural Instrument at Event for Leading Anesthesiologists and Key Opinion Leaders

LIVINGSTON, NJ, December 3, 2015 -- Milestone Scientific's (NYSE: MLSS) Epidural & Intra-Articular Subsidiary today announced that it hosted an event on November 20th in Miami, FL for a group of leading anesthesiologists and key opinion leaders in the field. Professor Ralf E. Gebhard, M.D., from the University of Miami, discussed the CompuFlo® technology and its areas of clinical application.

Dr. Gebhard also addressed the progress of the COMPASS clinical study, a randomized, controlled, parallel group, multicenter, pivotal study aimed at assessing the safety and effectiveness of epidural space verification with the CompuFlo® Epidural Computer Controlled System. The goal of the pivotal IDE clinical trial is to demonstrate the accuracy of Milestone's CompuFlo® technology in identifying and confirming the epidural space location as part of the US regulatory pathway.

Leonard Osser, Chief Executive Officer of Milestone Scientific added, "We believe our instrument has the potential to transform an industry that has been plagued with safety concerns with one of the highest rates of malpractice in medicine. We believe our instrument represents the future of painless, safe and effective epidural procedures."
